Space Center, Houston (P) -The Apollo 15 astronauts rocketed out of lunar orbit and started homeward Wednesday, bringing ancient rocks and new photos they gathered in man's greatest exploration of the Astronauts David R. Scott James B. Irwin and Alfred M. Worden fired a powerful burst with their main rocket engine to break out of the moon's gravity and start the 250,000-mile voyage to a splashdown Saturday in the Pacific

The first word from the command ship Endeavor after the rocket burst came from

'On The Way Home'

"Hello, Houston," he said, "Endeavour's on the way home." Then he added: "It was a smooth burn."

Apollo 15 sped away from the moon at more than 5,100 miles per hour at the start of a 71-hour coast toward earth.

An hour before the rocket firing, the spacemen ejected a small satellite, which looks somewhat like a mail box and which will circle the moon for a vear and scrutinize it electronically.

The spacemen's homeward journey after six days of lunar exploration was started with a two-minute rocket firing while Apollo 15 was behind the moon and out of radio contact.

Just before the craft disappeared, capsule communicator Joseph P. Allen told the astronauts: "You are go" for the long rocket

'Waiting On the Dock'

"Set your sails for home," said Allen. "We're predicting good weather, a strong tail wind and we'll be waiting on the

"Okay," called back Scott, the moon mission commander. "We'll see you around the corner."

Earlier in that final orbit, the astronauts ejected from the command ship the small satellite, which resembles the shape of a rural mailbox.

"Tally ho," Scott called as the satellite sprang from the spacecraft. The satellite will record the moon's magnetic and electrical fields and the variations in its gravity.

"That's a very pretty satellite out there," he added later.

On Thursday, Worden will make a 30-minute spacewalk to bring mapping film into the cabin of the command ship Endeavour. He will make two trips to retrieve two hatboxshaped film cannisters from the $17-million array of cameras and instruments in the service module, attached to Endeavour.

Detailed Charting

The film contains what scientists hope will be the most detailed charting of the lunar surface ever made, including views never before seen of the moon's hidden backside.

The walk will begin when Endeavour is about 196,000 miles from earth, the farthest away the maneuver has ever been attempted. Scott and Irwin will remain in the cabin. All three will wear their spacesuits to protect them from the vacuum

The astronauts slept soundly during their last night in moon orbit and Mission Control awakened them Wednesday with a weather report.

"It's been raining a lot in Houston and you guys will have a lot of grass-cutting to do when you get back down here," said a capsule communicator.

"The weather's been good up here," replied Scott.

The spacemen spent the day working quietly, to complete their assignment of charting the surface composition and features of almost 20 per cent of the moon.

Signal Lost

A television camera left on the moon and controlled remotely by Mission Control was turned on Wednesday, but the signal was lost after 14 minutes. Officials said further use of the camera was in doubt.

During the brief telecast the camera gave a clear picture of the lower stage of the lunar module left behind at the Hadley Base landing site. The camera panned around slowly and showed the atomic-powered science station which Scott and Irwin deployed during their 19 hours of surface exploration.

The white equipment stood out on the barren moonscape like tombstones on a Western "Looks like Boot Hill from a distance," said Mission Control. Boot Hill in Western slang means a cemetery.

Experts had no immediate explanation for the loss of the television signal, but speculated it may be the connection which cut off electric power to the

Officials had hoped the camera's batteries would last at least until Friday so the camera could be used to study a solar eclipse. At that time, the earth's shadow passes across Hadley Base, causing an eclipse of the sun from the viewpoint of the

By MILAN WALL Star Staff Writer

The board of directors of the Lincoln Foundation Wednesday approved grants of $25,000 to help establish a community drug abuse program and to finance development of an educational technology system.

One of the $25,000 grants went to the Lincoln Council on alcoholism, which will now expand its activities to include coordination of a community attack on drug problems. The other $25,000 is to go to

The one-year grant to EDU-TEK will finance an innovative study that could launch EDUTEK onto the national scene. Foundation board members were told.

Harry Seward, a member of the Foundation board, said he believed the plan important enough for the community to commit Foundation funds.

Formally called an "educational resources designd e v e lopment-implementation plan," the project will lead to development of a proposal for Lincoln Public Schools' use of the cable television channel assigned to it, as well as use of computers and other technological advances in educational enterprises.

EDUTEK President William Stucker, who also directs the Institute for Education and Technology, told the Foundation that the Lincoln Schools are in an "opportune" position for such a project because they have the technological capability and are ready to learn what to do with Stucker said no other school system in the country has completed the kind of study anticipated in the project. Some, he said, have begun use of sophisticated systems only to find they had not laid adequate

In other matters, the foundation granted $3,000 to Opportunity, Inc. to help purchase a house for use as a half-way house for just-released penitentiary or reformatory inmates.

That grant and the EDUTEK grant are to come from the Nelle Cochrane Woods Fund and the drug abuse grant is to come from the Frank H. Woods Fund. Both funds are held by the Foundation.

White House Denies POW Release Story

(c) 1971 New York Times News Service Washington - The White House said Wednesday night it could not confirm a Swedish newspaper report that 183 American prisoners of war would be released by North Vietnam next week and flown to the United States. While not specifically denying it, the White House clearly indicated that the report was unfounded. In an article in its Thursday edition, Dagens

Nyheter, Sweden's biggest circulation newspaper, said that a Scandanavian Airlines System (SAS) airliner had been chartered to fly 183 POWs from Vientiane, the capital of

The report suggested that the charter had been arranged through the U.S. Command in Saigon, but this was denied by both the White House and the State Department.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said: "We cannot confirm the content of this

"The first indication the U.S. government had regarding this story was from an Associated Press dispatch out of Stockholm. It can be categorically stated that the U.S. government has not been informed of any such plan, nor have we participated in negotiating a plan such as described in the report out

"Further, the U.S. government at any level has not requested the SAS airline to proceed as suggested in the Swedish newspaper,

The Ziegler statement did not preclude the possibility that some unofficial intermediary who has been seeking the release of the prisoners could have chartered the flight in anticipation that the prisoners would be released by North Vietnam. But Ziegler said that suggesting such a possibility was not the purpose of his statement, which he said was designed to "knock down" the report.

The Dagens N y h e t e r report said that "if the plans for this uttermost secret release operation are not changed or overthrown, an SAS airliner will lift off from Vientianne, Laos, with the prisoners, bound for New York by way of Bangkok and Rome.

Departure Delayed

The report said the first contacts in the secret operation were made at the end of July, when the U.S. Command in South Vietnam cabled SAS asking for a charter plane. The flight was originally planned to take place on Aug. 6, the paper said, but the departure was then delayed until Aug. 12. A SAS spokesman said airlines officials in Stockholm had confirmed that a charter flight "out of some point in Laos" had been arranged for Aug. 18, but that the airline did not know "who the charterer was or what the routing or destination would be." He said he understood the passengers were to be American prisoners of war.

In the latest Communist proposal at the Paris negotiations, North Vietnam offered to release American prisoners of war if the United States would set a reasonable but definite date for withdrawal of all its forces from Vietnam. North Vietnam has claimed to hold a total of 339 American prisoners of war.

'Guarded Optimism'

Robert Alschwede, of Lincoln, second vice president of the Forgotten Americans Committee of Nebraska, said late Wednesday night that the news of the possible release of 183 American prisoners of war, while thrilling, must be greeted with "guarded optimism."

He said he understood the passengers were to be American prisoners of war.

In the latest Communist proposal at the Paris negotiations, North Vietnam offered to release American prisoners of war if the United States would set a reasonable but definite date for withdrawal of all its forces from Vietnam. North Vietnam has claimed to hold a total of 339 American prisoners of war.

Committee Slashes ABM Funding

Washington (UPI) - The Senate Armed Services Committee slashed $161.4 million Wednesday from President Nixon's request for the Safeguard Antiballistic Missile System.

The committee unanimously approved a $21.1 billion military procurement authorization bill, but denied Nixon's request to begin deploying the ABM at a third site at Whiteman Air Force Base, Mo.

Instead, it confined actual deployment of the ABM to two existing sites in Montana and

House OKs Draft Extension

Washington (UPI) - The House approved the long-stalled selective service bill Wednesday but Senate war opponents and a congressional vacation seemed likely to keep the draft on ice until at least October.

On a 297-108 roll call vote, the House approved a compromise version of House and Senate measures to extend until June 30, 1973, the government's authority to draft men for

Also included in the legislation, and the source of its problems, was a revised version of the antiwar amendment sponsored by Democratic leader Mike Mansfield.

Some Senate doves are unhappy with the language fashioned by the House-Senate conference committee. They, with some all-out opponents of the draft, have threatened a filibuster to block enactment of the bill.

Posing a more formidable obstacle at the moment is a congressional summer vacation, scheduled to begin Friday. Senate leaders decided Wednesday that it would be fruitless to try to prevent a filibuster and pass the measure before then and decided not to bring up the bill until Congress returns Sept. 1.

The House acted and the Senate postponed as the Selective Service System prepared for its third national draft lottery Thursday. The random drawing of dates and numbers will' determine the order in which young men born in 1952 will be called up for military induction next year.

Draft officials say they have authority to conduct the lottery even though the Selective Service law has expired.

The President has been without general induction authority since June 30, and because of the legislative deadlock it could be October before the Selective Service System could begin drafting men again.

The Defense Department claims the president has authority to induct men who have held deferments, such as students and fathers. But Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has said the Pentagon was reluctant to utilize it because it would be "unfair" to dislocate the lives of the men affected.

During debate in the House Wednesday Rep. Charles S. Gubser, R-Calif., predicted that if the Pentagon had to dip into this group "you will hear from a great many citizens across the country.'

However, Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, scoffed at the notion and told the House what he would do if he were inducted under those circumstances.

"I'd go to court and that would be the end of that, because if there isn't any draft law there isn't going to be any dipping.'

EVENTS IN PERSPECTIVE

(Note: William O. Dobler, The Star's editor, is on vacation. Today's column is by Jack Nease, staff writer for Editorial Research Reports.)

By JACK NEASE

WASHINGTON—Cable television has been promising to revolutionize American homes for so long that some people are growing impatient. Not surprisingly, some of the most impatient are people in the cable television business.

For years they have been forecasting the day when most homes will be wired to receive 12. or 20, or even 40 ghost-free television pictures. In addition, enthusiasts have predicted that two-way cables will read electric meters, take instant public opinion polls, watch for burglars, and perform other handy chores.

The willing revolutionaries of the cable business have been stayed from this vision by the Federal Communications Commission. It has barred them from importing distant television signals into the nation's 100 largest markets. The ban has limited CATV (community antenna television) to small towns and rural areas-and Manhattan, where there are plenty of television stations but poor reception in apartment buildings.

Unless the White House or Congress intervenes, the FCC soon will open up big cities to the enterprise of the cable men. Tentative regulations were discussed with the Senate Commerce Committee's communications subcommittee in June, with a promise to come up with concrete proposals before Congress takes its summer vacation. The cable operators may not like all they receive. FCC Chairman Dean Burch recently complained that ". . . some cable operators are all 'get' and precious little 'give.' They're arguing that they must have distant signals now. But, so far as cable's unique non-broadcast services are concerned-well, sometime later will be soon enough."

The FCC won't buy that, Burch said. It likely will require-among other things-two-way non-voice communication in major markets and at least one non-broadcast channel for every broadcast signal carried by a system. The regulations, Burch said, "will be the first, small step to get cable moving, and more important, to provide us with experience as to what it's capable of becoming." As Broadcasting magazine put it, cable men "could reasonably anticipate, and not just speculate. that the next months would free them to break into the major markets in a big way."

Television station owners aren't happy with the prospect of the extra competition that cable can offer, and they have friends in Washington. Senator John O. Pastore (D-R.I.), chairman of the communications subcommittee, has hinted Congress might override the FCC proposals.

Cable men are even more curious about the intentions of the White House. President Nixon has appointed a special committee to determine how the television industry can grow without disrupting existing television. On the committee are three cabinet officers and three White House aides.

The six men, Sen. John McClellan (D-Ark.) has observed, have more experience in politics than in the tangled issues of communications regulation. There has been speculation that appointment of the committee could have been a pointed pre-clection reminder to broadcasters that they need a friend in the White House. But then again, what administration can be expected to sit quietly by while an industry plans a revolution, even of the peaceful variety?

Man-Made Curls Came Into Being

NEW YORK — In tribute to barbecued bobs. the unusually high quality of the humidity these days, I gave myself a home permanent last night. In only 22 minutes with a mere $2.75. I now feel like a new person - hairily uptight. But this, too, shall pass. Fortunately, there are few things on earth less permanent than permanent waves.

It was exactly 66 years ago, when millionaires were millionaires after taxes and ladies had plenty of time on their hands, that the "permanent wave" was born.

Two representatives of the Nestle Company visited me to describe how their forefather, sake of money, either. It Charles Nestle, the German who discovered how to crimp ladies' hair, made about $3,000,000 out of the invention in the years following its introduction in 1905.

"At first," the spokesmen explained. "women were scared of the new process and only very brave women of the risk. Almost all of them got burned slightly. It was that kind of process.

Actually at the beginning, it was a boiling and baking procedure which involved 12 to 20 hours of misery for both the operator and the operatee. The process was introduced in London, where it was aptly called the "Fiery Dragon."

Nestle's idea was believed to have been picked up from the ancient Egyptians. "Some pople believe that Cleopatra and her ladies in waiting had a mysterious waving system, involved with the waters of the Nile and their magical powers," said the Nestle people. "But that was impossible. and Mr. Nestle knew the real story. The Egyptians actually shaved their heads, for cleanliness purposes, and wore fancy, curled black wigs."

To curl those wigs, they wrapped swatches of hair around sticks and boiled them. They then packed the boiled corkscrews in clay and baked them over hot fires - sort of

Nestle discovered the ancient process and decided that perhaps he could copy the process with the hair still on the woman's head.

Wrapping long hair, some of it floor length, around a series of gas-heated coils that weighed nearly two pounds apiece, he demonstrated that in less than one day he could give a woman curls to last a long time. London women didn't mind having their scalps burned a bit for the sake of beauty, and Nestle didn't mind having his hands burned a bit for the amendment approved by voters last November was to provide for a partisan team approach to executive responsibilities and to upgrade the post of lieutenant governor into sort of an assistant governor, to perform executive duties as delegated by the governor.

To that end, Nebraska voters are scheduled to elect a partisan team of governor and heutenant governor starting with the 1974 general election and beginning 1975, the lieutenant governor's post will become a fulltime job with added executive responsibilities. Prior to this time, the governor and lieutenant governor have been elected independently.

There are dangers in the system, however, which must not have been recognized, or maybe were ignored, when the amendment was molded into final shape prior to the 1970 election.

Democratic State Chairman Hess Dvas said he will now ask the party's state central committee that it consider asking the Legislature to seek voter approval for team selection of nominees for governor and lieutenant governor in the primary election. Congress takes its summer vacation starting this weekend and senators and members of the House likely will find a little time to go back home and find out what the people are frinking about. According to some observers, the people, if they are thinking about the issues, are not talking much or writing much about them.

If there were to be a heavy flood of favorable mail to any congressman, we imagine it would be addressed to Nebraska Rep. Charles Thone, who said Congress should "seriously consider cutting the pay of its members instead of adding to their benefits," as is now being contemplated.

The action of the House Administration Committee to increase allowances and benefits without requiring the House to vote on it "is a back-door approach and I predict that it will end in scandal," the First District congressman said. ### TOM WICKER Blacks' Poor Economic Status Should Be Of Primary Concern To President Just Now

WASHINTON — The Nixon administration is faced with a cruel economic dilemma, caught as it is between the devil of unemployment and the deep blue sea of inflation. But the President's decision to hold fast to his present line of action — or inaction, as the Democrats would have it—does not seem to satisfy even his own administration; it gives his opponents an easy political target: and for one important

The heavy political burden of defending this thesis lies squarely on Nixon, particularly since he has authority to impose wage and price controls. Even inflation is likely to look like a reasonable price to pay for a job to those who lack or lose one and who can hardly notice the administration's claim that the "rate of inflation" has stopped accelerating. ### IN PERSPECTIVE

By JACK NEASE

WASHINGTON-Cable television has been promising to revolutionize American homes for so long that some people are growing impatient. Not surprisingly, some of the most impatient are people in the cable television business.

For years they have been forecasting the day when most homes will be wired to receive 12, or 20, or even 40 ghost-free television pictures. In addition, enthusiasts have predicted that two-way cables will read electric meters, take instant public opinion polls, watch for burglars, and perform other handy chores.

The willing revolutionaries of the cable business have been stayed from this vision by the Federal Communications Commission. It has barred them from importing distant television signals into the nation's 100 largest markets. The ban has limited CATV (community antenna television) to small towns and rural areas-and Manhattan, where there are plenty of television stations but poor reception in apartment buildings.

Unless the White House or Congress intervenes, the FCC soon will open up big cities to the enterprise of the cable men. Tentative regulations were discussed with the Senate Commerce Committee's communications subcommittee in June, with a promise to come up with concrete proposals before Congress takes its summer vacation.

The cable operators may not like all they receive. FCC Chairman Dean Burch recently complained that ". . . some cable operators are all 'get' and precious little 'give.' They're arguing that they must have distant signals now. But, so far as cable's unique non-broadcast services are concerned-well, sometime later will be soon enough.'

The FCC won't buy that, Burch said. It likely will require-among other things-two-way non-voice communication in major markets and at least one non-broadcast channel for every broadcast signal carried by a system. The regulations, Burch said, "will be the first, small step to get cable moving, and more important, to provide us with experience as to what it's capable of becoming." As Broadcasting magazine put it, cable men "could reasonably anticipate, and not just speculate, that the next months would free them to break into the major markets in a big way."

Television station owners aren't happy with the prospect of the extra competition that cable can offer, and they have friends in Washington. Senator John O. Pastore (D-R.I.), chairman of the communications subcommittee, has hinted Congress might override the FCC proposals.

Cable men are even more curious about the intentions of the White House. President Nixon has appointed a special committee to determine how the television industry can grow without disrupting existing television. On the committee are three cabinet officers and three White House aides

The six men, Sen. John McClellan (D-Ark.) has observed, have more experience in politics than in the tangled issues of communications regulation. There has been speculation that appointment of the committee could have been a pointed pre-election reminder to broadcasters that they need a friend in the White House. But then again, what administration can be expected to sit quietly by while an industry plans a revolution, even of the peaceful variety? Dist. by Editorial Research Reports

In only 22 minutes with a mere $2.75, I now feel like a new person - hairily uptight. But this, too, shall pass. Fortunately, there are few things on earth less permanent than permanent waves.

It was exactly 66 years ago, when millionaires were millionaires after taxes and ladies had plenty of time on their hands, that the "permanent wave" was born.

Two representatives of the Nestle Company visited me to describe how their forefather, Charles Nestle, the German who discovered how to crimp ladies' hair, made about $3,000,000 out of the invention in the years following its introduction in 1905.

"At first," the spokesmen explained, "women were scared of the new process and only very brave women of great wealth decided to take the risk. Almost all of them got burned slightly. It was that kind of process.

Actually at the beginning, it was a boiling and baking procedure which involved 12 to 20 hours of misery for both the operator and the operatee. The process was introduced in London, where it was aptly called the "Fiery Dragon."

Nestle's idea was believed to have been picked up from the ancient Egyptians. "Some pople believe that Cleopatra and her ladies in waiting had a mysterious waving system, involved with the waters of the Nile and their magical powers," said the Nestle people. "But that was impossible, and Mr. Nestle knew the real story. The Egyptians actually shaved their heads, for cleanliness purposes, and wore fancy, curled black wigs."

To curl those wigs, they wrapped swatches of hair around sticks and boiled them. They then packed the boiled corkscrews in clay and baked them over hot fires - sort of

My original intention a number of years ago in planting these bushes was to make an attractive place to lure the birds at berry time. I also wanted to make a dense undergrowth hoping to keep the Bob White happy that seemed to favor this area. For some unknown reason, there has not been a Bob White nearby this year. I seldom see the birds, although my father says he often sees them in early morning along the roadside eating and darting away close to the shelter of the bridge.

I wish I had as much enthusiasm as Old Bob White that I could whistle while I work. Maybe I should learn the secret of this gay bird.

Blacks' Poor Economic Status Should Be Of Primary Concern To President Just Now

administration is faced with a cruel economic dilemma, caught as it is between the devil of unemployment and the deep blue sea of inflation. But the President's decision to hold fast to his present line of action - or inaction, as the Democrats would have it-does not seem to satisfy even his own administration; it gives his opponents an easy political target; and for one important segment of the population, the blacks, it probably looks like one more decision taken in interests.

This effect is heightened by the administration's curious insistence on the Lockheed loan defending this thesis lies guarantee. As Sen. Walter Mondale of Minnesota typically put it: "If the administration is serious about jobs and economic recovery, it should understand that what we need is not special legislation for Lockheed . . . but legislation to bring national economic recovery."

It is no doubt true, as Chairman Paul W. McCracken of the Council of Economic Advisers had put it, that through a combination of spending increases and revenue losses mostly resulting from congressional action, the budget for fiscal year 1972 already is $7 billion more

But Nixon apparently holds to the belief-described by Treasury Secretary John B. Connally Jr.—that to act to "drastically reduce the number of unemployed on a short-run basis" would also "jeopardize their gains, their jobs and the jobs and the gains of million of other Americans by adding a thrust to inflation that would be disregard or ignorance of their unacceptable and would be un-

The report saw little grounds for optimism about continued black economic gains "if the national growth rates decline and unemployment rates rise as they did in 1970." 公 公 公

The Urban Institute report offered graphic evidence of how far blacks have yet to go, despite their gains in the 1960's. Although, for instance, the proportion of blacks in professional and technical occupations increased at a rate more than three times that of whites, even at that rate of gain it would be 1978 before blacks hold as high a proportion of these occupations as whites did in 1968.

It will be 1978, too, before median black family income (now $5,590) equals the present median white family income ($8,937)—and then only if the same rate of gain is maintained in the 1970's as prevailed in the

New Career Opportunities Exist For Ambitious

By ROBERT PETERSON

We hear a lot of problems of returning and retiring servicemen getting reestablished in civilian life. Job shortages have consigned many former heroes to pounding the pavements in quest of whatever work may be available.

But satisfying new career opportunities exist for those who are genuinely ambitious and optimistic, who will consider new and varied kinds of work, and who will make the effort to scout around and find their niche.

Here's a success story: Two years ago Art Booker, a Negro master sergeant, retired after 20 years of service in the Air Force. He had worked in electronics and communications, but couldn't find a promising civilian job utilizing this background. What's more. he hankered to be his own boss.

Then someone told him there were bright potentials in service station operation. He was skeptical, but he began studying possibilities. He checked with various oil companies and finally found one which offered training and assistance in getting started.

Today he's a happy, successful civilian. He leases the leading Shell station in Tacoma, Wash., makes better than $25,000 annually, coaches little league football and baseball, owns a 21-foot power boat, and lives in a lovely new home with his wife and four children.

And although running a service station is a 24-hour business, he manages to have dinner at home every night with his family.

The family's splendid financial security is seen by the fact that Booker also has his Air Force pension of about $5,000 a year, and income which his capable wife Wilda adds to the kitty via a secretarial job at Madigan Army Hospital.

"We could have gotten by on my pension, I guess," says Booker, "but I enjoy working and wanted more income. I'm in my 40s and retirement can wait until I'm older and have built up some capital.

"Operating a busy service station is hard work-but it pays off. I'm down there 10, 12 and sometimes more hours every day. There's a payroll of nine full-time employes, including three mechanics.

When I took over this location about 14 months ago it had been neglected-handling less than 35,000 gallons of gas a month. Today my average month runs some 50,000 gallons.

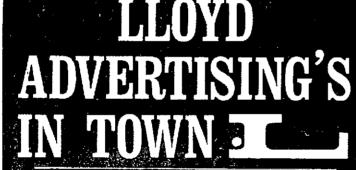

"It's a totally new career for me. In the Air Force my duties included planning, programming, installing and maintaining radio flight facilities and navigational aids communication equipment. You don't use much of that experience running a service station but you learn discipline and you learn to work with

"Things have worked out better than I'd hoped. After the oil company decided I was their man they helped me find the right location. Then they sent me to training school for five weeks, coached me in business methods, and showed me how to set up accounting records. With this second career going great guns you can take it from me-life begins after 40."

Calls or letters from unidentified persons are not used. A pen name or initial will be used with the town if requested and if the caller or writer also provides his correct name and address.

A problem facing my daughter and her fiance perhaps pertains to many young Nebraskans: they are stationed at Ft. Bragg, N.C., and hoped to come home to Lincoln to be married. As their time will be limited, the new law which requires a five-day waiting period may prevent them from doing so. We were informed that application for the license by mail is prohibited which would have solved the problem.

-Mrs. Ernest Spahn, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: Problem solved. Lancaster County Judge Ralph Slocum informs ACTION LINE that his office will accept an application by mail. The new law, which goes into effect Aug. 27 requiring a five-day waiting period, said nothing about applications by mail, therefore it is presumed legal to do

Have them write Judge Slocum at the County-City Building, 555 So. 10th St., Lincoln, NE 68508.

Mrs. Clifford Jorgenson, head of the Nebraska Committee for Children and Youth, who helped get the new law passed, says intent of the law was not to prohibit application by mail for a marriage license. Her office has just recently notified county judges around the state of this fact.

I am a 24-year-old widow. My husband died in an auto accident a few months ago. In a matter of weeks I am expecting another child. The people who rallied around and assisted me were kind, but I feel need to make contacts outside my home. Is there an organization in Lincoln designed for people like me without a husband? And I would like to do things for other people that would make me feel useful and -Mrs. J. G., Lincoln needed in some small way.

ACTION LINE: The unselfishness of your letter certainly impressed the ACTION LINE staff. Right on.

There is a Parents Without Partners organization. The group's vice president is mailing a newsletter to you explaining the purposes and goals. Then for organizational work, write the Volunteer Bureau at Rm. 225, Lincoln Center Bldg., 215 So. 15th St., Lincoln, NE 68508.

While attending the Denton Centennial Sunday, I almost picked myself off the car roof inside as I crossed the railroad just east of the community. I have never experienced a rougher set of tracks. -J. F., Lincoln ACTION LINE: County Engineer Walter Hoppe has been instructed by County Board member Bob Colin to investigate the matter and to contact the rail line responsible for the tracks. If too rough as you describe, the tracks will be repaired.

On Sheridan Blvd. between 27th and Van Dorn, there are electric wires hanging from post to post. Why?

ACTION LINE: According to Don Young of Lincoln Electric System, the arrangement is temporary and should be disposed of within the year. Young says there should be no trouble from the system which employs the trees as relay positions for the wires. The wires are attached to strong tree limbs with insulators.

Young says the new Sheridan Blvd. lighting system (considerable controversy has arisen over the lighting design or this street) should be displayed within a week for the approval or disapproval of the citizens of the area.

There has been an old car parked on Cottonwood St. between Cherrywood and Maplewood since the first part of the year and I want it moved.

ACTION LINE: The Lincoln Police Dept. investigated the auto you described down to the license plate number and no auto was present. The next time you have a complaint, contact the police department immediately since an auto can't be parked in one spot longer than 24 hours.

Sens. Humphrey, Curtis To Attend Sept. 9 Hearing

At least two members of the subcommittee on rural development of the Senate Agriculture Committee will be in Lincoln for a hearing on rural development issues Sept. 9.

Sens. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., and Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., will attend the hearings. which will seek ways the federal government can help provide more jobs in primarily agricultural areas.

Previous hearings have been held in Sioux City, Iowa, and in Alabama and Georgia.

Curtis said one method which would be studied would be means to get industry to locate in rural areas or in smaller cities which serve rural areas.

close to chest. Don't reveal all you know. Temporary confinement is indicated. Check resources. One who confides secret may have ulterior motive. Refuse to sacrifice integrity. Throw off fear.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are a dynamic, a natural showman, at times selfish, often a better host than a guest. You usually are in mood to celebrate. Extravagance is almost a way of your life. For you, living without love is no life. In recent times, movements have been restricted. This is due to change. Member of opposite sex plays key role—provides elation. Creative energies find constructive, profitable outlets. Indeed, you will have reason to celebrate. If single, marriage is on horizon. Copyright 1971, Gen. Fea. Corp.

Sens. Humphrey, Curtis To Attend Sept. 9 Hearing

At least two members of the subcommittee on rural development of the Senate Agriculture Committee will be in Lincoln for a hearing on rural development issues Sept. 9.

Sens. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb. and Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., will attend the hearings, which will seek ways the federal government can help provide more jobs in primarily agricultural areas.

Previous hearings have been held in Sioux City, Iowa, and in Alabama and Georgia.

Curtis said one method which would be studied would be means to get industry to locate in rural areas or in smaller cities which serve rural areas.

While the weatherman predicts a "cooler than normal" August, the temperatures doesn't seem to dampen the spirit of suburbia. Residents of Lincoln are finding these summer months full of activities, with thoughts of winter far in the distance.

Surprises always are fun to plan and be a part of, as Mrs. C. Ned Cadwallader of Country Club Terrace tells us from first hand experience. It was not too long ago that Mrs. Cadwallader took a trip to Chelsea, Mich., on rather short notice to visit her cousin and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Sanley W. Bond. The occasion for the trip was a surprise 40th wedding anniversary party for Mr. and Mrs. Bond for which their son, Gerald Bond, was host. Of course, the Bonds did not realize why Mrs. Cadwallader made the sudden trip—until the party occurred, that is. Then, all of the pieces fit together. Many of you may remember Mrs. Bond—the former Ida Dodd of Lincoln.

Another "surprise" a mong suburban residents took the form of a birthday party. However, this time the guest of honor was in on the planning. The birthday party came one day early, on Saturday evening, for Dr. Robert Shapiro, who celebrated his special day on Aug. 1. A small dinner party was held at the Wellington Greens home of Dr. and Mrs. Shapiro to honor the anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Julian have just returned to their Wellington Greens home from a trip to Ozark country Accompanying the Julians on the week long trip were Mr. and Mrs. Al Filgert.

The first stop was Bella Vista, Ark, where the couples enjoyed four full days of golfing, fishing and prospecting Mr and Mrs. Filbert made a 'find,' as they purchased land in the area for future trips. True Arkansas shindigs and visits to some of the caves in the area filled the days before the foursome left for another part of the Ozarks, this time in Missouri.

Silver Dollar City and the Shepherd of the Hills play in Branson, Mo, were just some of the highlights of the remaining three days before the return to Lincoln.

Lincoln, with its location in the heart of the middle west, is a handy spot for vacationers from all areas of the country to stop off for visits while on their annual summer trips.

And suburban residents are not to be left out when it comes to the deluge of seasonal guests.

Suburbia

Some recent visitors at the Southbrook Summit home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Newkirk brought with them a not her visitor—and a very special one, at that. The guests were Cpl. and Mrs. Darel Scott of Fort Hood, Tex., and their son, Jason Darel—and the visit was the first opportunity Mr. and Mrs. Newkirk had had for an introduction to their five-month-old great nephew.

It seems that Cpl. and Mrs. Scott and their son had been in Council Bluffs, Iowa, where they were the guests of their parents—and while in the area they decided to journey to Lincoln for a day-long visit.

The visit prompted a family dinner and more introductions for Master Jason Darel Scott. He soon made friends with the Newkirks' son, Dana Newkirk, and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr .and Mrs. Scott Newkirk.

Also included at the family dinner were some other Council Bluffs, Iowa, residents, Mrs. Newkork's father, J. D. Scott, and her aunt Miss Lina Scott.

During these busy summer months with the guests and family pouring in and out, it almost seems as though the home base has become a terminal roundhouse!

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Moss and their two daughters, Gail and Ruth Ann, of the Fiene Heights suburb have been on their toes all summer long and so Mr. and Mrs. Moss decided that it was time for a breather.

They grabbed the first three-day weekend that came along, and last weekend fit the bill for the eager travelers. Mr. and Mrs. Moss left the girls behind and took a "two for the road" vacation to Abilene, Kan., and were back on Monday evening.

During their absence, there was a visitor at their suburban home Mrs Moss' mother, Mrs. Clara Nichols of Lawton, Iowa, arrived the Friday they left and kept Gail and Ruth Ann company through Tuesday morning when she returned home.

During the past several weeks, the Moss family has had time to chat with two of Mrs. Moss' nephews, John Barnes of St. Louis, Mo., and Desmond Moss of Everett, Wash.

The two also visited with their grandmother, Mrs. Minnie Moss and John has also found time to pay visits to his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Orville H Barnes

TALK O

We're not going to mention the weather this morning — or the fact that there seems to be a prophecy floating around that says the current month will be the wettest and coolest in the history of Nebraska Augusts — But, as we said, we aren't going to talk about it — We have too many other topics.

Last Tuesday's mail brought an announcement to many Lincoln residents — It had to do with the wedding of Miss Mary Louise Kane daughter of Mrs. Paul Richard Kane of Salidas, Calif., to William Leslie Grainger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Grainger, also of Salinas, which took place on Saturday, July 24.

Mrs. Grainger, of course, is the former Sally White, daughter of Mrs. Walter W. White, and the late Mr. White — and a former coed on the Nebraska campus where she is a member of Alpha Chi Omega.

Then we learned that Miss Eleanora T. Miller arrived last Friday from Thedford, and is the house guest of her niece, Mrs. Arthur J. Whitmer, and Mr. Whitmer.

Miss Miller has numerous relatives in Lincoln — all of them great-nieces and nephews — and great-great nieces and nephews.

The Lincoln Star 13

We have some anniversaries to mention this morning, too — We learned, for instance, that Dr. and Mrs. LeRoy Kallemeyn of Omaha are celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary with an open house next Sunday afternoon at their home 5508 No. 63rd St. in Omaha.

Doubtless the guest list will include many of Dr. Kallemeyn's Lincoln relatives as well as old friends in the Firth and Adams vicinity.

Dr. Kallemeyn, an educator, is a graduate of the University of Nebraska.

The members of the family of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Reddish have an interest in Sunday, Aug. 7, also since there is to be an anniversary party. There will be no open house, however, but there will ge a dinner at The Knolls on Sunday evening

Mr. and Mrs. Reddish, who are celebrating their 25th anniversary which officially is Saturday, Aug. 6, have children who are more or less at the helm of the Sunday festivity— a daughter, Mrs. William Schneider of Lincoln— two sons, Richard and Robert—and a second daughter, Sandra, all at home.

We have some anniversaries to mention this morning, too — We learned, for instance, that Dr. and Mrs. LeRoy Kallemeyn of Omaha are celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary with an open house next Sunday afternoon at their home 5508 No. 63rd St. in Omaha.

Doubtless the guest list will include many of Dr. Kallemeyn's Lincoln relatives as well as old friends in the Firth and Adams

Dr. Kallemeyn, an educator, is a graduate of the University of Nebraska.

The members of the family of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Reddish have an interest in Sunday, Aug. 7, also since there is to be an anniversary party. There will be no open house, however, but there will ge a dinner at The Knolls on Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Reddish, who are celebrating their 25th anniversary which officially is Saturday, Aug. 6, have children who are more or less at the helm of the Sunday festivity— a daughter, Mrs. William Schneider of Lincoln—two sons, Richard and Robert—and a second daughter, Sandra, all at furs for fashion and home decorating is growing among seamstresses who have a yen for working with unusual and beautiful materials.

Remember the popular phrase, "you pay for what you get"? It certainly applies to the sumptuous fake fur collections which are priced form 10 dollars a yard and up. Expensive fabrics such as these allow no leeway for another familiar saying, 'you pay for mistakes", because with careful planning, deep pile garmets and home accessories can be sewn with confidence—even the first Intricate details are lost in the plush pile, so when you are sewing with fun furs, show off the fabric to its best advantage and stick to a simple pattern. Pattern adjustments need to be made before laying out the pattern; plan to eliminate seams whenever possible by simply pinning pattern pieces together along the designated seam line from top to bottom and laying ioined sections out as one piece. Fake furs with definite pelt markings are treated as plaids and should be matched at corresponding seam lines. As with any heavy fabric, cut only one layer at a time. Using a single edge razor blade or sharp shears, cut only the backing—the pile will separate naturally.

A Child's World BY PHYLLIS WOOLLEN

While many parents vacillate between the pros and cons of sending their pre-school youngsters off to nursery school, professional people in the field of child care seem to agree that if a child does not have children in his age category to play with that nursery school is indeed ad-

Mrs. Helen Sulek, director of the Ruth Staples Laboratory at the University of Nebraska believes that the most vital element is quality care for all children.

In choosing a day care program for your child, Mrs. Sulek advises that parents pay a visit to the center or nursery before enrolling their child, and that they look for licensed day care centers and homes. A good day center will provide for physical growth and development, muscle activity, a stumulating environment and an opportunity to learn.

A nursery school program can be beneficial to even those children whose mothers are not working. It is an advantage for a child to attend to develop contact with other children, as well as experience a gentle approach to school years, Mrs. Sulek emphasizes.

The mother of young children who needs to work to support the family or because she so desires, may find job 🐠 discrimination when she begins looking for employment.

Mrs. Sulek defines quality care of a youngster as: (1) maintaining a close relaand acceptance and security; (2) seeing that children have opportunities for not only just custodial care, but also for opportunities to learn, for stimulation and social and emotional growth; and (3) developing wholesome at-

"The undisciplined child faces problems, and to give a child complete freedom is an unfair responsibility," she states. The major goal of discipline is for the child to become self-disciplined.

This morning Miss Virginia Beth Coleman, whose marriage to Ronald L. Schuldt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Scholdt of South Sioux City, will be an event of Sunday, Aug. 15, is making announcement of the bridal party.

The daughter of Mrs. Eugene Coleman and the late Mr. Coleman, the bride-to-be has named Mrs. Dan Ryan as her honor attendant for the 3 o'clock service to be solemnized at Trinity United Methodist Church. Mrs. David Coleman will be the bridesmatron, and the bridesmaid will be Miss Georgia Margos of Salida, Colo. Mr. Schuldt's cousin, Miss Kirsten Schuldt of Sioux City, Iowa, will be the flower girl.

Lighting the chancel candles will be Miss Coleman's cousin, Bruce Coleman; and Doug Schuldt of South Sioux City, brother of the future bridegroom.

Serving his brother as best man will be Les Schuldt of South Sioux City, and the groomsmen will be Mike Deal of Sioux City, Iowa, and Victor Russell of South Sioux City. Seating the guests will be David Schuldt, brother of the bridegroom-to-be, and Michael Harrington, both of South Sioux City; and Larry Lucas of Omaha. The ring bearer will be Wayne Sawle of Ainsworth, Miss Coleman's

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Why are you so fair in everything else, but when it comes to the subject of OBESITY, you are completely without mercy!

A mother wrote she was "heartsick" because her 21 year-old son brought his 20year-old fiancee home, and she was fat!

Why didn't you tell that mother to encourage her son to stick with pride by the girl he loved, no matter what, even if she had one eye in the middle of her head? Instead, you recommended the mother get her son aside and instruct him to tell the girl she should do something about her weight while she was still young.

If I were that young man, I would be more concerned about my mamma's set of values than my girl's bulk.

DISAPPOINTED IN YOU DEAR DISAPPOINTED: Aw, come on, now. No one can help being born with one eye in the middle of his head, but a girl who is so fat she can hardly fit into the largest chair in the room, and then eats as if there's no tomorrow has a problem. And someone who loves her should encourage her to solve it.

DEAR ABBY: This is for the heartsick mother whose son brought home a fat fiancee, Some men prefer fat women.

To them fat is beautiful. Mamma should leave her son alone. Some of the happiest marriages I know are those of thin men and fat, jolly wives. Heartsick mother should rejoice. Her son is getting at least twice as much woman!

FAT AND MARRIED

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter signed "WEAK AND TEMPTED" from the man who plete program listing and rewas hooked on prostitutes. He claimed he was happily married and his wife lacked nothing in that department.

I agree with you, he needs a head doctor but I have a better solution that could solve his problem and save his marriage. If he gets pleasure out of paying for his sex life, tell him to hand his wife the usual fee. She will be happy and he will be satisfied. #### Firemen Set For Season

With football about a month away the city firemen are already set for another season in the midget league.

For the past three months Howard Cook, Bob King, Ron Wallick and Jon Crum have been constructing a seven-man sled in their spare time for the three teams the firemen

And the sled is one any high school in the state would be proud to own.

If ordered from a sporting goods warehouse, the sled would range in the $800 level plus postage. But the members ot the Firemen's Relief and Benefit Association built their sled for $300 not counting donated parts or labor.

Approximately 100 boys on the firemen's Class A, B, and C teams will use the sled.

"We were going to buy a sled first," King said. "But when we found out how much they cost, we decided to build one ourselves.

"We've scaled down our model so it's not as heavy as ones in cataloges since the boys on our Class C team will only be 10 and weigh 80 to 90 pounds "

King and Cook, who have been coaching in the midget league for several years, say their participation in the league is their hobby.

"Some guys like to golf, hunt or fish in their spare time." King explained "We like to work with the kids in the league and teach them how to play football.

Registration On Tuesday Night

"We think the program is one of the finest young boys

With registration for midget football on Tuesday night at all junior highs and Arnold and Lakeview grade schools, some 900 boys are expected to sign up for this year's pro-

Cook and King estimate it costs about $5,000 to start out sponsoring a team in the league and $800 a year to properly maintain it

Everything is furnished except shoes, shocks and practice jerseys to the boys. The sponsor also must find a practice area and equipment

This is where the idea of getting a seven-man sled originated. Now completed, the sled the firemen made also can be used in defensive drills because of some insight.

'We made the pads adjustable so they can be reversed to a horizental position from the usual vertical position,"

This way we can teach our defensive players to use their aims besides teaching our offensive players how to block properly. We can also adjust the pads up or down depending on what team is using the sled "

Cook and King added they believe the sled will last indefinitely with occasional replacement of the pads.

Since they are firemen and the sponsor teams, King and (ook say there wasn't any doubt what color would be put on the sled - fire engine red . Unfortunately some other team in the league already has red for jersey colors or we duse red there, too, 'they said.

Now that a seven-man sled has been built, the firemen say they plan on building at least one and possibly two two-man sleds before practice starts on Aug. 23.

DUKE HEADED FOR BIG TEI

... AP Says Official Announcement Will Be Today

Kansas City (#) — The Big Eight Conference office said Wednesday it knows nothing about reports Commissioner Wayne Duke will be named Thursday to a similar post in the Big Ten Conference.

Duke, 42, was not available for comment on an Associated Press story from Chicago earlier in the day that said flatly Duke has the job. He was reported "somewhere on the road" after a Colorado vacation.

Mickey Holmes, Duke's administrative assistant, said the news was a surprise to him.

"I've grown rather op-timistic he wouldn't accept the Big Ten post," Holmes said. When Duke was selected to succeed the late Reaves

Peters as commissioner in 1963, the Big Eight appointed a screening committee to accent applications. The conference faculty representatives made the appointment and would do likewise in event Duke goes to the Big Ten. Charles Oldfather of the chairman of the faculty representatives, was also in Colorado on vacation and not available for comment. A conference spokesman said if Duke goes to the Big Ten, no machinery has been set up to name his successor.

University of Kansas,

Dr. C. Clyde Jones, faculty representative for Kansas State, made this statement: "At this time, Wayne Duke is still commissioner of the Big Eight Conferènce. I have no personal knowledge of Wayne's plans and can only speculate about a matter of this sort. "My own opinion is that if the Big Ten job, institutional representatives of the Big Eight would undoubtedly meet at the earliest possible date to formulate procedures for seeking a replacement. "No one could possibly know what these procedures will be at this time. I do know

Wayne should decide to accept strongly expressed to Wayne its desire that he remain." At 42, Duke is the nation's youngest executive officer of a

that the conference has took over the Big Eight position on July 1, 1963. Prior to that time, he had for 11 years been assistant to Walter Byers, executive director of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Duke, a 1950 graduate of the University of Iowa at Iowa City, was sports information director at the University of Northern Iowa at Cedar Falls and the University of Colorado before joining the NCAA executive staff when it was organized in Kansas City in 1952.

Duke was involved in nearly every phase of NCAA activity while he was with that organization. He had an assignment in 1957 with NBC-TV Sports in New York as NCAA-NBC television public relations-liaison officer.

Duke is vice president of the Collegiate Commissioners Association and a member of the NCAA executive, legislative, football television and football advancement committees and an NCAA representative of the govern-major athletic conference. He ing council of the U.S. Track and Field Federation.

Some speculation already has arisen that if Duke takes the job, Holmes, 33, would be considered to succeed him.

Holmes has held his present post for eight years. Before he joined the Big Eight office, he was director of information and secretary to the athletic director of the Midwest Conference. The latter job was regarded as the equivalent to the post of commissioner in many conferences.

Duke is only the second commissioner in Big Eight history. Peters had held the post since it was created in 1947 when Duke took over.

Big Ten athletic directors recommended that Duke be appointed. It was reported they endorsed him 9-1.

Under Duke's leadership, the Big Eight has become a national power in football. Nebraska won the national championship in 1970, and three Big Eight teams, including Nebraska, played in post-season bowl games.

MOVING . . . Big Eight's Duke to leave for Chicago soon.

Firemen Set For Season

With football about a month away the city firemen are already set for another season in the midget league.

For the past three months Howard Cook, Bob King, Ron Wallick and Jon Crum have been constructing a seven-man sled in their spare time for the three teams the firemen

And the sled is one any high school in the state would

If ordered from a sporting goods warehouse, the sled would range in the $800 level plus postage. But the members of the Firemen's Relief and Benefit Association built their sled for $300 not counting donated parts or labor.

Approximately 100 boys on the firemen's Class A, B, and C teams will use the sled.

"We were going to buy a sled first," King said. "But when we found out how much they cost, we decided to build one ourselves. "We've scaled down our model so it's not as heavy as ones in cataloges since the boys on our Class C team will only be 10 and weigh 80 to 90 pounds."

King and Cook, who have been coaching in the midget league for several years, say their participation in the league is their hobby.

"Some guys like to golf, hunt or fish in their spare time," King explained. "We like to work with the kids in the league and teach them how to play football.

Registration On Tuesday Night

"We think the program is one of the finest young boys can enter."

With registration for midget football on Tuesday night at all junior highs and Arnold and Lakeview grade schools, some 900 boys are expected to sign up for this year's pro-

Cook and King estimate it costs about $5,000 to start out sponsoring a team in the league and $800 a year to properly maintain it.

Everything is furnished except shoes, shocks and practice jerseys to the boys. The sponsor also must find a practice area and equipment.

This is where the idea of getting a seven-man sled originated. Now completed, the sled the firemen made also can be used in defensive drills because of some insight.

"We made the pads adjustable so they can be reversed to a horizontal position from the usual vertical position," King pointed out.

'This way we can teach our defensive players to use their arms besides teaching our offensive players how to block properly. We can also adjust the pads up or down depending on what team is using the sled."

Cook and King added they believe the sled will last indefinitely with occasional replacement of the pads.

Since they are firemen and the sponsor teams, King and Cook say there wasn't any doubt what color would be put on the sled - fire engine red. "Unfortunately some other team in the league already has red for jersey colors or we'd use red there, too," they said.

Now that a seven-man sled has been built, the firemen say they plan on building at least one and possibly two two-man sleds before practice starts on Aug. 23.

TIME OUT DUKE HEADED FOR BIG

... AP Says Official Announcement Will Be Today

Kansas City (A) - The Big Eight Conference office said Wednesday it knows nothing about reports Commissioner Wayne Duke will be named Thursday to a similar post in the Big Ten Conference.

Duke, 42, was not available for comment on an Associated Press story from Chicago earlier in the day that said flatly Duke has the job. He was reported "somewhere on the road" after a Colorado vacation.

Mickey Holmes, Duke's administrative assistant, said the news was a surprise to

"I've grown rather optimistic he wouldn't accept the Big Ten post," Holmes said. When Duke was selected to succeed the late Reaves Peters as commissioner in 1963, the Big Eight appointed a screening committee to accept applications. The conference faculty representatives made the appointment and would do likewise in event Duke goes to the Big Ten.

Charles Oldfather of the University of Kansas, chairman of the faculty representatives, was also in Colorado on vacation and not available for comment. A conference spokesman said if Duke goes to the Big Ten, no machinery has been set up to name his successor.

Dr. C. Clyde Jones, faculty representative for Kansas State, made this statement: "At this time, Wayne Duke is still commissioner of the Big Eight Conference. I have no personal knowledge of Wayne's plans and can only speculate about a matter of this sort. "My own opinion is that if Wayne should decide to accept the Big Ten job, institutional representatives of the Big

Eight would undoubtedly meet at the earliest possible date to formulate procedures for seeking a replacement. "No one could possibly know what these procedures will be at this time. I do know that the conference has strongly expressed to Wayne its desire that he remain."

At 42, Duke is the nation's youngest executive officer of a major athletic conference. He took over the Big Eight posi-tion on July 1, 1963. Prior to that time, he had for 11 years been assistant to Walter Byers, executive director of the National Collegiate Athletic Association. Duke, a 1950 graduate of the University of Iowa at Iowa City, was sports in-formation director at the University of Northern Iowa at Cedar Falls and the University of Colorado before joining the NCAA executive staff when it was organized in Kansas City in 1952.

Duke was involved in nearly every phase of NCAA activity while he was with that organization. He had an assignment in 1957 with NBC-TV Sports in New York as NCAA-NBC television public relations-liaison officer.

Duke is vice president of the Collegiate Commissioners Association and a member of the NCAA executive, legislative, football television and football advancement committees and an NCAA representative of the governing council of the U.S. Track and Field Federation.

Some speculation already has arisen that if Duke takes the job, Holmes, 33, would be considered to succeed him.

Holmes has held his present post for eight years. Before he joined the Big Eight office, he was director of information and secretary to the athletic director of the Midwest Conference. The latter job was regarded as the equivalent to the post of commissioner in many conferences.

Duke is only the second commissioner in Big Eight history. Peters had held the post since it was created in 1947 when Duke took over.

Big Ten athletic directors recommended that Duke be appointed. It was reported they endorsed him 9-1.

Under Duke's leadership, the Big Eight has become a national power in football. Nebraska won the national championship in 1970, and three Big Eight teams, including Nebraska, played in post-season bowl games

Length of stay for patients under 65, he said, dropped from 7.7 days last June to 7.1 this year. More important, he added, was the drop in medicare patients' stays by 2.6 days to 9.9, an all-time hospital low.

Less Than National State average for medicare patents is 11.9, he said, and the national average is 13.2.

Brungard said he believed economic reasons were involved in the drop, but he also said he believes the staff is becoming more aware of utilization problems and of providing the best medical care possible.

"This type of trend is a positive reaction to the continued criticism hospitals receive in terms of unnecessary patient stays and costs related to promiscuous utilization," Brungard said in his report for the month.

Northern Natural Closing Lincoln Office By Sept. 1

The Northern Natural Gas Co. Lincoln Office, which presently has a staff of 15, will be moved out of Lincoln by Sept. 1 to merge with the company's Des Moines office, according to Lincoln area manager, Evan M.

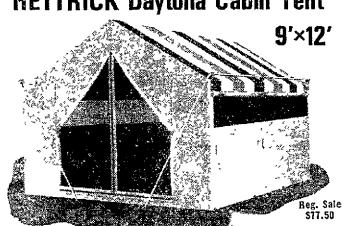

Griffiths, who was in charge of area operations in Des Moines before moving to Lincoln, will again assume management of the Des Moines office. He succeeds Eugene Bacon, who has been Des Moines manager since 1966 and has been named area manager at Liberal, Kan. Company officials said the Des Moines office, which currently has 17 employes, will be expanded to about 25 after the move is completed.

Griffiths said 11 of the 15 families affected by the merger would be transferred to the Des Moines office. Two families will be moving to the Kansas area,

Closing Lincoln

Office By Sept. 1 The Northern Natural Gas Co. Lincoln Office, which presently has a staff of 15, will be moved out of Lincoln by Sept. 1 to merge with the company's Des Moines office, according to Lincoln area manager, Evan M. Griffiths.

Griffiths, who was in charge of area operations in Des Moines before moving to Lincoln, will again assume management of the Des Moines office. He succeeds Eugene Bacon, who has been Des Moines manager since 1966 and has been named area manager at Liberal, Kan.

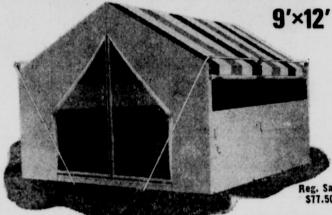

Company officials said the Des Moines office, which currently has 17 employes, will be expanded to about 25 after the move is completed.

Griffiths said 11 of the 15 families affected by the merger would be transferred to the Des Moines office. Two families will be moving to the Kansas area. he said.

Rail Workers' Unemployment Pay Delay Told

Omaha (A) — It may be weeks before all railroad employes idled by the eight-day strike will receive their unemployment benefits, an official of the Railroad Retirement Board Fed Resour said.

The delay is a result of the "thousands of claims" that may be filed, Kenneth R. Harbour, the board's Omaha district manager said.

He said some 3,000 claims have been sent to the board's Means FW 1 Mohwk Airl have been sent to the board's Chicago headquarters from his office and another 1,000 will be Petrie St. 40 The delay is a result of the Chicago headquarters from his office and another 1,000 will be forwarded in the near future.

He said employes have until the end of September to file delayed registrations for their days of unemployment because of the strike.

rally developed in midsession.
But the gains were wiped out as stock prices tumbled to their lows for the session at the close.

Analysts attributed the brief rally to bargain hunting resulting from an oversold condition in selective stocks. They said investors had overreacted said investors had overreacted to fears about another primerate hike producing Tuesday's sharp decline, which continued into Wednesday's early trading.
